

Employment Opportunities

As our vision states, “Ours is a staff of special people who understand the bond between pet and owner. They are knowledgeable, caring and helpful people who enjoy learning and working with other staff members to provide positive results for the patient and client. Our staff is well compensated in wage, benefits and the special interactions with our patients and clients. We are always approachable and eager to assist you and your pet.” In addition, our staff works efficiently together and independently to provide our high standard of care on an ongoing basis. Our processes are continuously improving with our staff. If it sounds like everyone on our staff has significant responsibility for providing excellent client service and patient care through great communication, you are reading it correctly.

Indeed, we have a staff of very special people that work at the Companion Animal Hospital. We are growing and always looking for people that are naturally a great fit with our hospital philosophy and staff. If you think you are the right person, the “special” person for our hospital, you can fill out an application, provide your resume and forward it with your resume’ to:

Positions At Our Hospital:

Technician:

The technician position is increasingly a degreed position (Licensed Veterinary Technician, the Michigan designation) in veterinary medicine and in our practice. Most of our technicians come to us with significant experience. The main function of the technician is to make our doctors efficient. We fully utilize the technician’s trained skills combined with management, organizational and client interaction skills.

Technician Assistant:

The technician assistant position is a “do all” position utilizing a large and varied skill set. Our assistants are very efficient, knowledgeable and have considerable client interaction skills. They are excellent animal restrainers and have a knack for being where they are needed when they are needed by the doctors and/or technician(s).

Kennel Assistant:

The kennel assistant position is a cleaning position to start and is typically an entry level position. Kennel assistants are monitored and taught new things based on their demonstrated abilities.

Receptionist:

The receptionist position is a very important position in our practice. This person is on the front lines delivering excellent client service and creating impressions that our clients will carry with them. These impressions often define the practice to our clients. In addition to making the clients and pets feel welcome, the receptionist is the consummate multi-tasker with a wide variety of office responsibilities.
